

Date: Saturday, January 25, 2020 - 10:00am to 12:00pm

Location: Kennewick

Type: Special Event

Audience: Adults

We all have stories about places we love and have impacted us in special ways. Join Washington State Poet Laureate Claudia Castro Luna and local poet Maureen McQueery to write poems about the place you call home. The workshop focuses in particular on the way the Columbia River impacts everyday life in the Tri-Cities.

The workshop is free and part of Castro Luna's state-wide project, "One River, Many Voices." Lunch will be provided.

Registration is required. Please email programming@midcolumbialibraries.org to register; 20 seats are available.

For more information, visit rivervoiceswa.com.

Pinterest